This web site is dedicated to my wife. Adequate words to describe her fail me; innocent, pure words written by our young son, her greatest gift of all among countless others, are here borrowed.

More than a decade before new laws were passed in the US to enable ShipShares to become reality, my wife indulged her husband's description of a future he imagined. A few days later, no more said, she asked if the ShipShares logo she had created described where only I knew I was headed. Perfectly! Then as now and perhaps for posterity!

A measure of a work's worth is if it lives beyond its creator. To whomever shall decide if ShipShares shall live in the future, let the perfect logo created by my wife live on too, symbolic of all the good that comes to many, started with the love between but two.
